

MICROBIOME HEALTHY VOLUNTEERS CLINICAL TRIAL

Researchers at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) invite you to join a study looking at how common antibiotics affect the trillions of good microbes living on or in our bodies — also known as our microbiome.

JOIN IF YOU:

- ✓ Are age 21-39 years
- ✓ Have no chronic medical problems
- ✓ Have no known allergies to the study medications

TO PARTICIPATE:

- You may be asked to take a dose of an antibiotic; either Amoxicillin or Azithromycin
- You will have up to 11 outpatient visits over a one year time
- You will be asked to come to the NIH Clinical Center, located in Bethesda, MD on the Metro red line
- Compensation for participation will be provided; on-site parking is available
